

Informal Resolution

Within five business days following the event in question, the grievant must discuss the grievance with the individual who is perceived to be the source of the concern.